

Re: Use of cell phones on commercial air plane flights

I implore you NOT to approve cell phone use on air planes. It is bad enough to be exposed to such conversations on the ground but, at least, one can usually MOVE AWAY FROM A PERSON USING A CELL phone. Needless to say, that is NOT an OPTION on planes.

While I do support business people being able to transact as much business as possible, it must not be at the expense of all other travelers - which may be tourists as well as other business people.

Thank you very much for you consideration.

Sincerely,
Anita Seemann
